Amazing Race at CMR

How Does it Work?

This take on the TV show, The Amazing Race, takes place both indoors and outdoors. The teambuilding is made up of teams of 8-10. Each team is given a series of clues and activities that will take them on an Amazing Race around the property or area of town of your choice. Every team gets a map of the area, written instructions, and a help line phone number for the facilitator if any team needs emergency assistance. Each team starts with a clue that takes them to their first challenge, then additional clues are received at each challenge to take them around the property or area.

Imprint Provides: All necessary staff includes emcee, sound system, and all game supplies

Client Provides: Tables & Chairs, Prizes

Once teams arrive to their location, the game staff will give directions and wait for the cue from Mission Control before they start the challenge timer. The game staff will time the team on how long it takes them to finish the challenge, then record the time, which goes toward the team's final race time. Each station has a max time of 5 minutes. When the 5 minutes are up, the game staff will give their team a clue card to their next location. This will continue until all teams are sent back to the starting line. Times will be added, subtracting bonus time received during Quest (see next page for more details!). The team with the fastest time is the winner!

The Hunt: CMR

“The Hunt” takes your average scavenger hunt to the next level. Teams will receive a list of questions and clues that send them all over Cheyenne Mountain Resort. Certain answers will require the completion of a task. Teams will have to work together to get most coverage and discover the answers to our riddles. The team that returns first with all questions properly answered will win. Teams can stick together or divide and conquer, choose your strategy well.

PROJECT S.O.S.

Project SOS is a teambuilding event sure to bring your company together while supporting the troops and giving back to those that serve our country. Teams will participate in military-themed challenges and earn money to use in the “Military Surplus” store. Teams will then use their money to purchase items and fill their military care package to the brim.

Care package sections for each team will be dispersed throughout the event space. Teams will be building their care packages throughout the teambuilding as they receive items at boot camp and during each military game. Care packages go to a military charity foundation that helps soldiers across the world in need. We will also take pictures and videos of the teams to be included in the care packages.

*Activities can be modified and expanded based on number of guests and time available.

TEAMBUILDING: HOTEL OLYMPICS

Coffee Mug Marathon

Fill coffee mugs to the brim and have contestants go around the office several times. Create a combined score based on the time elapsed before crossing the finish line and the amount spilled from the mug, and then announce the winners. While water makes this much less messy, using hot coffee does add an element of suspense to the game, so it's up to you which one to use!

Desk Chair Soccer

Set up a field and two goal areas in an open area of the office. Have two teams compete against one another in a soccer game while being confined to their office chairs. Use a lightweight ball to avoid injuries and broken office equipment, and have a referee on hand to keep the play clean.

Rubber Band Archery

Bring out a big pile of rubber bands. Use a piece of paper or marker board to create a target. Have the contestants stand about 8-10 feet back from the target. Once you say "go," give them 30 seconds to hit the target as many times as they can by shooting rubber bands off their fingers. Or line up 4-5 solo cups and the first person or team to know over all cups first wins.

Mental Gymnastics

This is like a game of charades in your office Olympics. Create a set of cards that list various Olympic Events. Have each team designate one person who will act out the cards. Give each team one minute to guess as many of the events as they can. NO WORDS OR CLUES are allowed!

Guess the Word

Sing, dance, act or describe clues to help guess the word!

TEAMBUILDING: HOTEL OLYMPICS

Synchronized Chair Swivel

Your team and/or partner have total time limit of 15 minutes to come up with a “Gold Medal” worthy synchronized chair routine to perform in front of everyone. The most creative and fun performance wins.

Dust Mop Relay

Scatter a measured amount of Styrofoam peanuts, ping pong balls or other in front of a dust mop. Players must then push debris around cones and back and tag the next player for their time. Fastest team! wins.

Balloon Ping Pong

Staple large popsicle sticks to paper plates for the paddles and blow up a balloon and use string for a net. Play to a certain number of points, rapidly rotate players, or intersperse ping-pong between round of other game choices to keep contestants on their toes!

Trash-keet Ball

This is more than just shooting a balled-up piece of paper into a wastebasket. This more like an office version of “Horse.” All shot are taken from a swivel chair, and making the shots more difficult is how you win. For example, canning a ten-foot shot while rolling after a full revolution is a great way to win. Just like “Horse,” first one to miss five shots loses.
