

MALAYSIA

SURVIVING CANCER
A MEMOIR

ELLE.MY

OCTOBER 11, 2013
RM10.00

Alexa Chung
ULTIMATE IT GIRL

WHY A DRESS CODE
WOULD BE BAD NEWS
FOR WOMEN

EXCLUSIVE
MR SELF-PORTRAIT
THE PENANG BOY
DRESSING HOLLYWOOD

+

California dreaming
ON A ROAD
TRIP TO LA

BEST OF BEAUTY AWARDS

*The perfect foundation. The most amazing serums.
The sexiest scents. The lipstick to love forever.*

FIELDS OF GOLD

Luxurious abodes tucked among trailing grapevines, ancient groves and sun-ripened orchards offer a fresh take on cultivated living, writes Vanessa Palencia

The 'Limited Edition' at Entre Cielos

ENTRE CIELOS LUJAN DE CUYO, ARGENTINA

WHY: With a name that translates to “between heavens”, you can tell Entre Cielos was founded by dreamers. Situated in Mendoza, Argentina’s stunning wine region, the property overlooks 3.2 hectares of Malbec grapevines with the snowy Andes as the backdrop. The main stone building has five rooms, each inspired by the establishment’s ‘Marantal’ house wines. The ‘Limited Edition’, however, is a half-moon-shaped loft where fellow dreamers can stargaze through the many skylights or while bathing on the terrace.

HOW MUCH: From RM1,980 a night.
SEE IT FOR YOURSELF: entrecielos.com

FAZENDA NOVA TAVIRA, PORTUGAL

WHY: At first glance, Fazenda Nova comes across as a shabby-chic beach house, but the carob, almond and olive trees that surround this Portuguese homestead soon put that idea to rest. Here is a home whose kitchen makes full use of crops from the orchard, and herb and vegetable gardens. The romantic interior features Balinese beds, sleek black shutters and animal-skin rugs, and the low-lit mezzanine library has an outdoor terrace attached. But who’d stay indoors when you could sit in a suspended cocoon by a firepit just outside your suite among the wild-flowers?

HOW MUCH: From RM725 a night.
SEE IT FOR YOURSELF: fazendanova.eu

Fazenda Nova’s simple and romantic lounge

Ready for a dip at Fazenda Nova

