HOT WEATHER AND COOL FUNK

As I write this, Tim and I are on a 777 en route to Houston for a wine dinner at the Bentwater Country Club. After almost eight days of triple-digit temperatures in Santa Barbara County we are hoping for cooler weather in Texas. Go figure!

Our son, Spencer Shull, is home to work the 2022 harvest and tells us that, despite the heat, the pinot noir that came in last week looks good! We so appreciate all the hard work that the winemakers and production team put in this time of year.

Our new tasting room in Santa Barbara's Funk Zone is now open, so if you are in Santa Barbara come on by!

The most important news we have to share is that Fess's great grandson, Benjamin, has chosen his Halloween costume! How cute is that?

Best wishes for a healthy fall season!

Eli, Ash & Tim

What a wild start to the vintage! Although we had a mild summer with foggy, cool mornings and lower than average temperatures, the Labor Day heat spike threw a wrench in that!! What looked like a longer than average heat wave turned into a ten-day inferno with temperatures over 110° F! We have come to expect Labor Day heat waves, but this one was much longer and much hotter. It was felt up and down California with some northern California vineyards topping out at almost 120° F! These types of temperatures can lead to sun-burned fruit and dehydration/raisining of berries. We do water through these heat waves, hoping to mitigate any damage. This particular heat wave was effectively shut down by a tropical storm that came from the south and drove out the heat, and with it came moisture and humidity. After that, temperatures cooled back down and let us take a mental break. I feel as much of a meteorologist this time of year as a winemaker.

Blair Fox

The heat pushed all the Sta. Rita Hills and Santa Maria pinot noir to ripeness, along with our estate riesling and chardonnay. Viognier is also knocking on the door, and its exotic, perfumy aromatics are always welcome this time of the year in the cellar. Some of the sparkling pinot noir for the Fesstivity program is finishing up its fermentation in barrel while the still, red pinot is fermenting away in our concrete tanks. Syrah and other Rhône varietals can tolerate the heat and are still a couple weeks out from being harvested.

I better get back out and join my team on the sorting table!
As always, it is a pleasure making wine for your enjoyment, and from all of us here at Fess Parker ... Cheers!

Blair Fox, Head Winemaker

HOLIDAY SEASON IN WINE COUNTRY

Plan a Fesstive Getaway to Los Olivos this holiday season.

With events like Olde Fashioned Christmas (December 4th), Los Olivos is the perfect place to get in the holiday spirit. In addition to having fantastic wineries, tasting rooms and restaurants, Los Olivos is home to many unique boutiques and shops, making it a great place to do your holiday shopping.

Or give the gift of a wine country experience by purchasing a Fess Parker Wine Country Inn gift card for a loved one.
