

History of the Hermosa Inn

With the stroke of his brush, Lon Megargee skillfully captured Arizona history, offering a glimpse of the days when cowboys roamed the vast Southwest desert. A jack of all trades, Megargee lived his colorful life to the fullest, working as a cowpuncher, bronco buster, fireman, poker dealer, home builder, exhibition roper and accomplished artist.

Dubbed the Zane Grey of cowboy artists by Arizona Highways Magazine, Megargee was commissioned by Arizona's first governor, George W. P. Hunt, to create several murals for the state capitol building, which remain to this day. His other famous works – many of which adorn the walls of the resort and restaurants – include Cowboy's Dream and Last Drop from His Stetson.

His Casa Hermosa (handsome house), with its unmistakable charm and style, was influenced by Mexican and Spanish architecture, is now the site of the acclaimed restaurant, Lon's at the Hermosa and its bar and casual dining counterpart LON's Last Drop.

SEEDLIP®
DISTILLED NON-ALCOHOLIC SPIRITS

Seedlip was born using a small copper still and herbs from a garden. The result was the beginning of an idea to combine a farming heritage, love of nature, a copper still and forgotten recipes with the need for proper non-alcoholic options.
