Six rainbow-themed NYC Pride specials that are benefitting the LGBTQ community

This month, vibrant rainbow creations are popping up all around the city to show the pride New York's restaurants and bars have for the LGBTQ community. While we love towering a sundae or glittery cocktail for a viral Instagram post, we're also all about putting our money where our mouths are. These spots are using colorful specials to raise money for the LGBTQ community, donating to some incredible charities and organizations. Here's where we're proud to eat and drink this month.

Rainbow Macarons at Pomme Palais: Lotte New York Palace's coffee shop and patisserie, Pomme Palais, is selling packages of rainbow macarons all month with 25 percent of proceeds donated to the Humans Right Campaign. ($20)
