

NEWS

DAILY NEWS

June 7, 2018

5 tasty ways to celebrate Pride month in New York City

Taste the rainbow. That's the name of the game for Pride month in New York City — whether you're craving sweet or savory. At a time when a same-sex wedding cake can create a firestorm, these companies proudly prove they're gay-friendly with these colorful desserts and dishes.

At the Pomme Palais, the patisserie in the Lotte New York Palace, macarons proudly come in a rainbow array of colors. (Pomme Palais)

Rainbow macarons

(Pomme Palais; lottenypalace.com)

A package of multicolored macarons at this lovely patisserie in the Lotte New York Palace hotel in Midtown (455 Madison Ave.) sells for $20. It's available through the end of June, and 25% of the cost goes to the Human Right Campaign.