MENGER HOTEL

Historic Menger Hotel circa 1859 Colonial Room Restaurant History

The Menger Hotels' Colonial Room Restaurant has been in operation since it opened. Many of the restaurant's chef came from Europe to create dishes reflecting the German, Mexican, French and American blend of the cultures found within San Antonio. By the late 1860's the hotel had firmly established its culinary reputation. Known for its wild game, the menu featured such exotic dishes as wild turkey stuffed with chestnuts, spotted antelope, and dried buffalo tongue. Soup made from soft shell turtles caught from the nearby San Antonio River was one of the dining room specialties. The homemade mango ice cream has remained on the menu for over 160 years.

Many elaborate balls and cotillions, hosted by San Antonio's social and political elite, were held in this room. Often Spanish moss and other atmospheric flora were hung from the columns to create elaborate themes. Among many celebrities who have dined here are President Grant, and Mckinley, General Robert E. Lee, and French actress Sarah Bernhardt.

In 1912 the original restaurant was remodeled by noted San Antonio architect Atlee B. Ayres to reflect the prevailing neoclassical Greek and Roman style of that era. As part of the remodeling, the original cast iron columns were enclosed with a Greek revival style and carved wooden dentils, arched window openings and other decorative millwork and mirrors. The unusual plaster mantelpiece around the fireplace features two caryatids (a stone carving of a draped female figure, used as a pillar to support the entablature of a Greek or Greek-style building).

Other famous people that have stayed and or visited the Menger Hotel are, Theodore Roosevelt, Gutzon Borglum, Captain Richard King of the infamous King Ranch, Oscar Wilde, William Sidney Porter ("O. Henry"), Mae West, Babe Ruth, Roy Rogers and Dale Evans, Evelyn Raper, and Sidney Lanier just to name a few.
