Doubletree by Hilton Aurora celebrates Hilton’s 100 Years of Hospitality

AURORA, CO – May 2019 – Doubletree by Hilton and Jackdaw restaurant participated in Hilton’s “Random Acts of Hospitality” in celebration of Hilton’s 100 Years of Hospitality. Hilton, the world’s first global hotel company, celebrated its milestone, 100th anniversary in the midst of the most dynamic year in the company’s storied history. To mark the occasion, hundreds of hotels around the world extended Hilton hospitality beyond their doors by taking “Random Acts of Hospitality” to their communities.

Doubletree by Hilton and Jackdaw Restaurant joined the fun by reaching out to their community of Cherry Creek State Park on Thursday, May 30th. They supplied campers, walkers, bikers, boaters, jet skiers, swimmers, and children with a goodie bag of sunscreen and sunglasses to help protect from the harsh UV rays from sun exposure. They also handed out Pupsicles (Puppy popsicles) to their neighborhood fur friends for additional hydration and a cool snack while playing in the sun.

“Conrad Hilton started this great company 100 years ago with the vision of spreading warmth and hospitality throughout the world. In an effort to continue his vision we will be handing out care packets at Cherry Creek State Park on Thursday May 30, 2019 in an effort to spread warmth and hospitality in our local community.” – Kirby Kiner, General Manager

“Our 100th year of hospitality is an opportunity to reflect on how far we’ve come and put a stake in the ground for our future. Conrad Hilton charted an ambitious course for Hilton in 1919, and I think he’d be proud of what we’ve accomplished so far. In my view, the world’s a better place because Hilton was born one hundred years ago, and if we do our job right, the world will be a better place because Hilton’s in it for the next one hundred years.” – Chris Nassetta, CEO of Hilton
