Opening

RH Yountville

RH Chairman and CEO Gary Friedman has officially outdone himself. RH Yountville, his most ambitious project yet, is the first-of-its-kind Wine Country compound combining design, art, food, and wine, all in one stunning setting. Housed in the former Masonry space, visitors can expect a design gallery with rotating artistic installations featuring RH Interiors and RH Modern collections; a wine vault for tastings of rare, limited-production wines from the region's best small producers; and a standalone restaurant concept with an ingredient-driven menu in an indoor-outdoor setting. Plan your next Wine Country trip and make a whole day out of this unique experience.

When: Gallery, 10 a.m. - 9 p.m., Monday-Sunday; Wine Vault, 11 a.m. - 10 p.m., Monday-Sunday; Restaurant, 10 a.m. - 10 p.m., Monday-Sunday

Where: 6725 Washington St., Yountville

Pop Up

Slowtide

It's not every day that we get excited by towels, but this brand of art-inspired bath and beach towels, blankets, and ponchos is no ordinary source of linens. Slowtide has collaborated with the likes of Stussy, Acacia, Ace Hotel, Takashi Murakami, and Jason Woodside on fun, one-of-a-kind designs. And now you can see them all firsthand at Slowtide's Pacific City pop-up in Huntington Beach. Look out for newly released polar fleece blankets in the brand's most
