Pier Sixty-Six Hotel & Marina's Pier Top Brings Back Brunch In The Sky With Sweeping Views Of Fort Lauderdale's Intracoastal

by Holly Gambrell Mar 12, 2018 04:38 PM

For all of Fort Lauderdale's perks, there is something it lacks: accessible views of the skyline and waterways from up above. But Pier Sixty-Six Hotel & Marina is helping to change that.

For the first time in over three years, Pier Top, located at the Pier Sixty-Six Hotel & Marina, is hosting “Brunch in the Sky,” offering guests sweeping views of the surrounding waterways from the top of the hotel.

Open to the general public, the brunches will occur once a month on select Sundays at 11:30 a.m. and 1:30 p.m. Upcoming dates include April 1, May 13 and June 17.

Brunch at Pier Top includes live music, bottomless mimosas and bloody marys, small plates, hot and cold stations and desserts.

Menu items include banana and rum compote pancakes, strozzapreti pasta, peppercorn-crusting Tomahawk steaks, grilled octopus, charcuterie boards, slow-cooked pork belly and much more.

“Brunch in the Sky” is $75 per person for adults, and $45 per person for kids under the age of 12.
