

This week in the Tenderloin: neighborhood artists, neon, makeovers, and outdoor dance

Wed. May 1, 2019, 2:55pm by Carrie Sisto

April showers have finally cleared, and several art-focused events are blooming in the Tenderloin in the early days of May. Here's what's on tap for art lovers in the neighborhood this week and weekend.

First Thursday Art Walk + Etsy Pop-Up Market

A map of venues for this month's Tenderloin/Lower Polk First Thursday Art Walk.

On Thursday, May 2, the Tenderloin will host its monthly art walk, in conjunction with Lower Polk. Events span both neighborhoods, but there's one notable highlight this month: a pop-up maker fair in partnership with Etsy, which will be held at the recently renovated Marker Hotel on Geary and Taylor streets.

Visitors can shop for locally made artwork, jewelry, cosmetics, knitwear and more. There's also a chance to get a free mini-makeover (advance registration required) from cosmetics entrepreneur Christina Choi, who is releasing a new beauty line. The event is free and open to all from 5-8 p.m.

PHOTO: THE MARKER/FACEBOOK