You'll see plenty of snow-capped mountains at Sheldon Chalet in Talkeetna, Alaska. Sheldon Chalet

Instead of seeing the sights and then heading back to a hotel, why not see the sights from the hotel? Beyond rooftop bars and terraces in common spaces, exquisite hotels around the world can offer something even better: views right from the hotel room.

With new accommodations popping up around the world, from Mexico to Zimbabwe, here's where you can find luxe experiences in exotic destinations while relaxing from the comfort of your own hotel room.

Zemi Beach House in Shoal Bay Village, Anguilla overlooks a famous Bay.

Ever dreamed of owning a beachfront home? This is about as close as it gets.

"Complete with a premier spa and a fine dining sea-to-table restaurant called Stone, the 65-room hotel sits on the world-famous Shoal Bay East," according to Vogue.

Take in the intensely turquoise waves and white sand beaches which stretch out for miles right from your own plush bed. It's a truly luxe experience, including rooms outfitted with wireless Bluetooth sound systems and motion-sensing climate control, according to their site. But the star here is the sun, sand, and warm ocean breezes.
